

Lunchbox notes

Print at 100%. Cut on the dotted lines.

A little hello from me
to you.

I tucked some love in
here.

You crossed my mind,
so here is a note.

This tiny card comes
with a big hug.

I'm glad I get to know
you.

A note just for my
favorite you.

Sending you a wave
from here.

I love our little chats.

Here's a paper hug for
your pocket.

I like spending time
with you.

A small card. Lots of love.

Hello, you. I'm thinking of you.

If this note had arms,
it would hug you.

I would send a
dinosaur, but it
wouldn't fit.

Imagine a tiny
penguin waving hello.

This card took the
paper route to you.

A snail would have
delivered this more
slowly.

Special delivery: one
very small hello.

If our cat could write,
what would it say?

This note is wearing
an invisible party hat.

A dragon helped deliver this. In my imagination.

Picture a squirrel
carrying a tiny
suitcase.

Official mail from the
imaginary moon post office.

If this card could talk,
it would say hi.

I love hearing your stories.

Your drawings are some of my favorite things.

I like the way you see the world.

I love being on the same sofa as you.

Our made-up words make me laugh.

I'm glad we have our own little jokes.

I like listening to your ideas.

I love our ordinary days together.

Your company is my favorite part of a walk.

I love the songs we sing together.

I like making things with you.

I love being part of your world.

Lunchbox notes

A hello as wide as the sky.

Love, folded into a
little rectangle.

Somewhere over here,
I'm thinking of you.

A little note to say you
are loved.

I sent this card ahead
with my love.

A note from me, with
love for you.

A small hello for the middle of your day.

This note traveled
here just for you.

There's always more
love than fits on this card.

I picked this little
note with you in mind.

I wanted to send you
something you could keep.

Here is a tiny bit of
home on paper.

Lunchbox notes

What would we name
a pet cloud?

Imagine our house
with a slide instead of stairs.

What color would you
paint a spaceship?

Which animal would
make the funniest
librarian?

I wonder what a whale would keep in
its pockets.

What would a
miniature moon look
like on a shelf?

Imagine a library
where all the books
can fly.

What would you call a
town built from
pillows?

I wonder if a robot
would collect
interesting rocks.

Picture us taking a
train through the clouds.

What would a treehouse on the moon need?

Imagine a postcard
sent by a very tiny
elephant.
