A nudge, not the answer

Optional help. Read only the numbered hint you want; the full key is a separate file.

Worked example: A little extra

A is shown normally; EXTRA is little. Read the size as part of the phrase.

01 Compare the size of the same word each time.

02 Join the two pieces, then describe what the line does.

03 The letters are not in their usual order. They spell one word.

04 Notice which word contains the other word.

05 Read the letters in order as they follow the bend.

06 Read the two letters together, then notice what separates them.

07 There is more than one hope. Where are they in the frame?

08 Count the words, then notice which side they occupy.

09 Look at the proportions of the letters, not just the word.

10 Read along the falling letters.

11 Read the letters from the other end.

12 What kind of symbols surround the word?
